DETAIL ACTION

Notice to Applicant(s)

1. This office action is response to the Amendment and Response to Restriction Requirement filed on July 23, 2007. As per requested, claims 22, 23, 25, 31, 32, 34 and 36 have been amended to includes all the limitations recited in claims of group I. Thus, the previous restriction was no longer applied. Claims 1-36 are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

2. Claims 34-36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. Claims 34-36 drawn to functional descriptive material NOT claimed as residing on a computer readable medium. MPEP 2106.IV.B.1(a) (Functional Descriptive Material) states:

"Data structures not claimed as embodied in a computer-readable medium are descriptive material per se and are not statutory because they are not capable of causing functional change in the computer."

"Such claimed data structures do not define any structural or functional interrelationships between the data structure and other claimed aspects of the invention which permit the data structure's functionality to be realized."

3. Claims 34-36, while defining a program product or a machine-readable program code, they not define a "computer-readable medium" and is thus non-statutory for that reasons. A machine-readable program code can range from paper on which the program is written, to a program simply contemplated and memorized by a person. The examiner suggests amending the claim to embody the program on "computer-readable medium" in order to make the claim statutory. For example, "A program product stored on a computer readable medium", "comprising a computer-readable medium for storing machine-readable program code for causing ..."

"In contrast, a claimed computer-readable medium encoded with the data structure defines structural and functional interrelationships between the data structure and the computer software and hardware components which permit the data structure's functionality to be realized, and is thus statutory." - MPEP 2106.IV.B.1(a)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. § 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 1-6, 8, 9-21 and 28-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Massie et al. (6,727,806).

6. As per claims 1, 6, 9, 13, 15, 28 and 29 Massie et al. disclose the invention as claimed which includes a reconfigurable cargo door/tailgate position indicator for receiving input from a door/gate monitoring mode input device 18, receiving input from a door/gate position input device 12, and output a signal to a door/gate position indicator to control the door/gate position indicator based on the analysis of the received inputs (see at least figures 1, 4, and column 4, lines 21-33).

7. As per claims 2-5, 8, 14, 16-21 and 30, the limitations of these claims have been taught in at least figure 1-4 and the related text of the Massie et al. reference.

8. Claims 7 and 10-12 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

9. Claims 22-27 and 31-33 are allowable. After carefully reviewing the application in light of the prior art of record, the amended claims and additional search of all the possible areas relevant to the present application, a set of related prior art references has been found, but those prior art references are not deemed strong to make these claims application unpatentable.

Conclusion

10. Claims 1-21, 28-230 and 34-36 are rejected. Claims 22-27 and 31-33 are allowable over the prior art of record.

11. The following references are cited as being of general interest: Lester et al. (5,289,534), Kowall et al. (5,563,483), Schwimmer et al. (5,708,409), Krenkel et al. (5,713,621), Lennox et al. (6,137,419), Zich (7,088,045), and Hensel (7,128,019).
